

MINI-SYMPOSIUM ON:

HISTORY OF MEDICINE IN CHINA AND JAPAN

NOVEMBER 13, 2008

MAIN QUAD, BUILDING 50 - ROOM 51A

3:15 PM

WELCOME

Paula Findlen, Ubaldo Pierotti Professor of History, Stanford University

3:25 PM

FEDERICO MARCON

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF JAPANESE HISTORY,
UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

*"The Polysemy of Nature:
The Diversity of Honzogaku Practices in Early Modern Japan"*

3:50 PM

CARLA NAPPI

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF HISTORY AND PHILOSOPHY,
MONTANA STATE UNIVERSITY

"The Crucible: Natural History and the Normal in Early Modern Bencao"

4:15 PM

PAUL UNSCHULD

DIRECTOR, INSTITUTE FOR THE HISTORY OF MEDICINE, UNIVERSITY OF MUNICH

with introductions by Joseph Helms, Professor of Medical Acupuncture, Stanford University School of Medicine

*"The Origin of Chinese Medicine:
Characteristics and Cultural Context of the Emergence of a New View on Disease and Health Care in Antiquity"*

5:45 PM

PANEL DISCUSSION

Moderator: Thomas Mullaney, Assistant Professor of History, Stanford University

More details at <http://ceas.stanford.edu> or email stephanie.lee@stanford.edu

Co-sponsored by the Center for Education in Family and Community Medicine, Division of Medical Acupuncture, Department of History and the Center for East Asian Studies at Stanford University